

• Reality is the state of things as they actually exist, rather than as they may appear or might be imagined.[1] In a wider definition, reality includes everything that is and has been, whether or not it is observable or comprehensible.

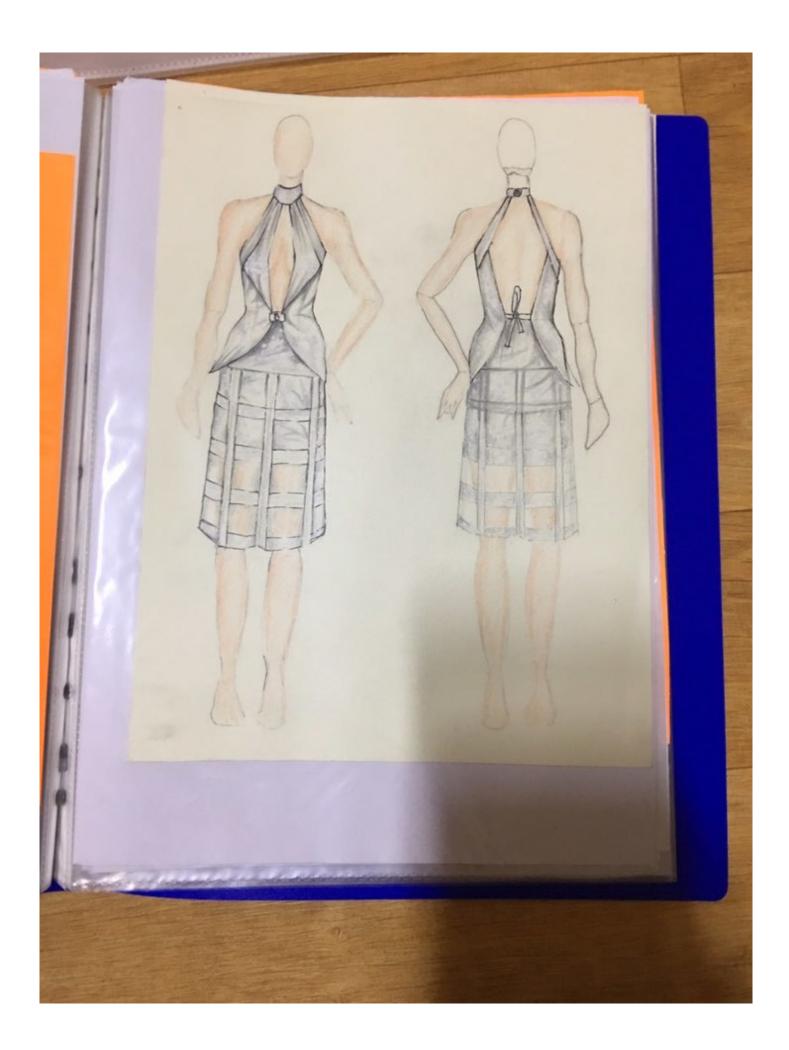

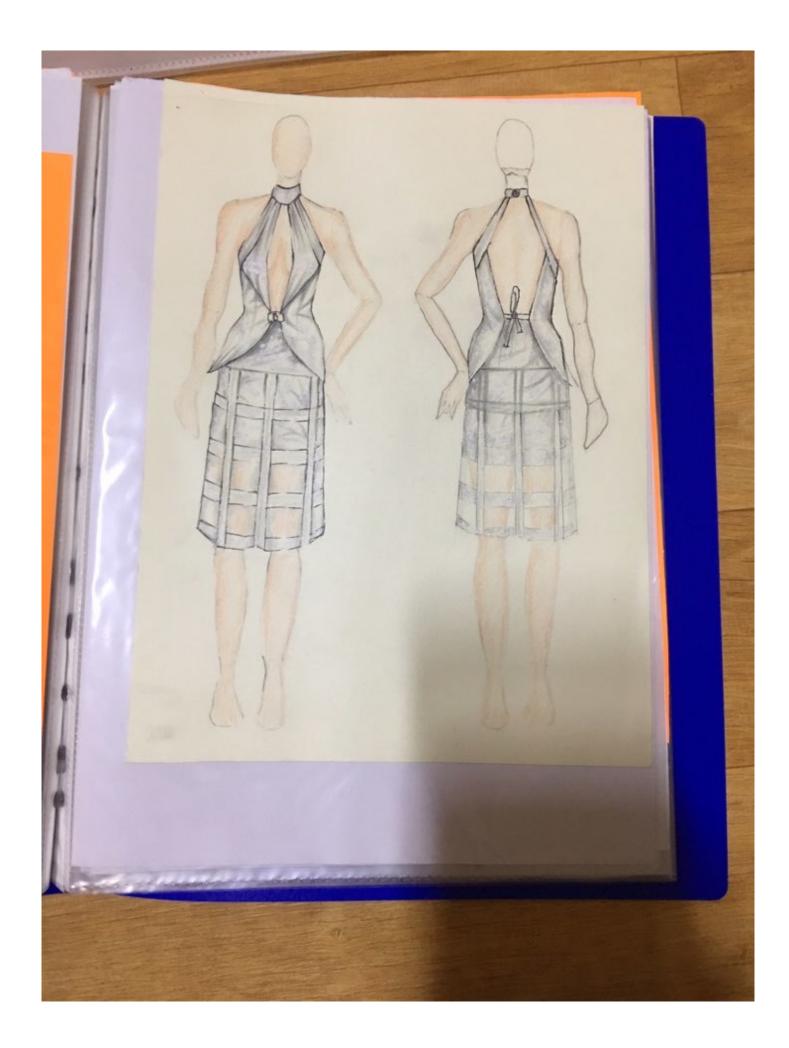

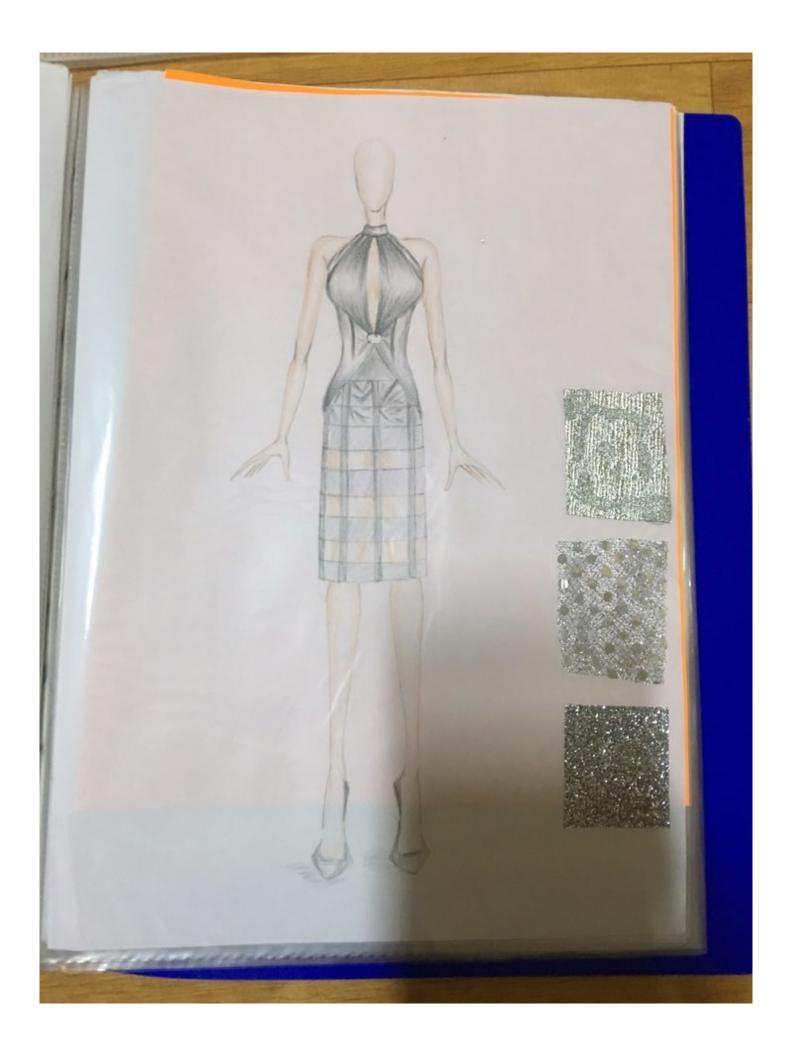

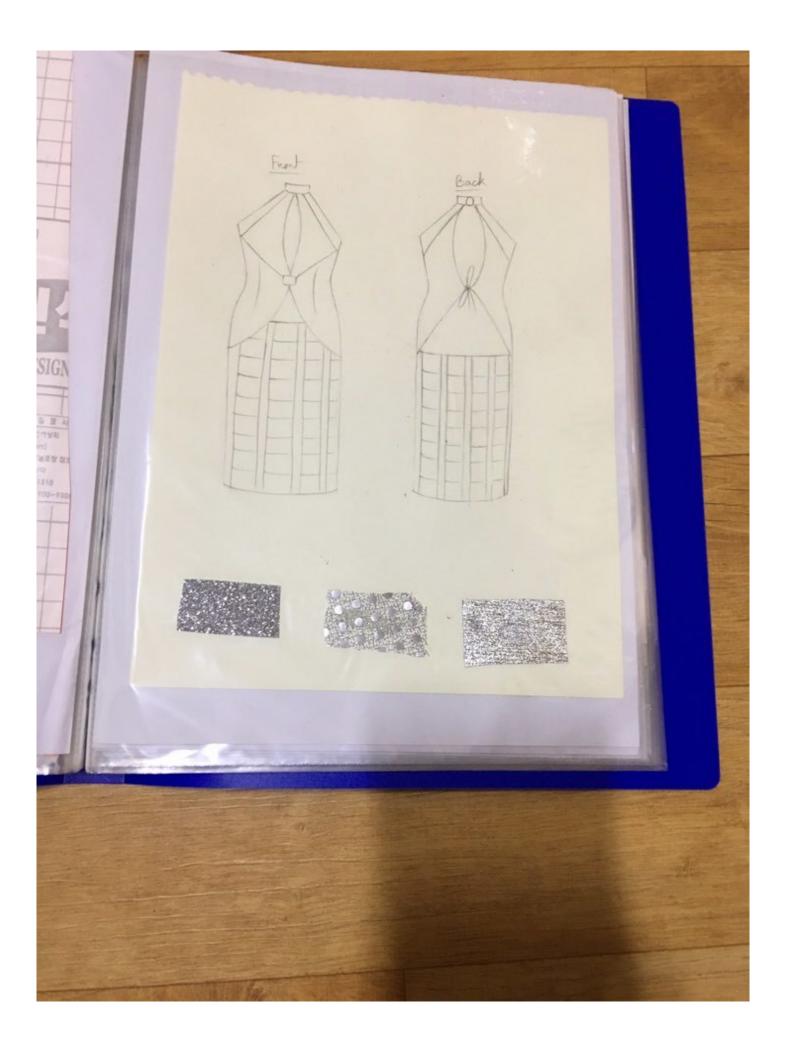

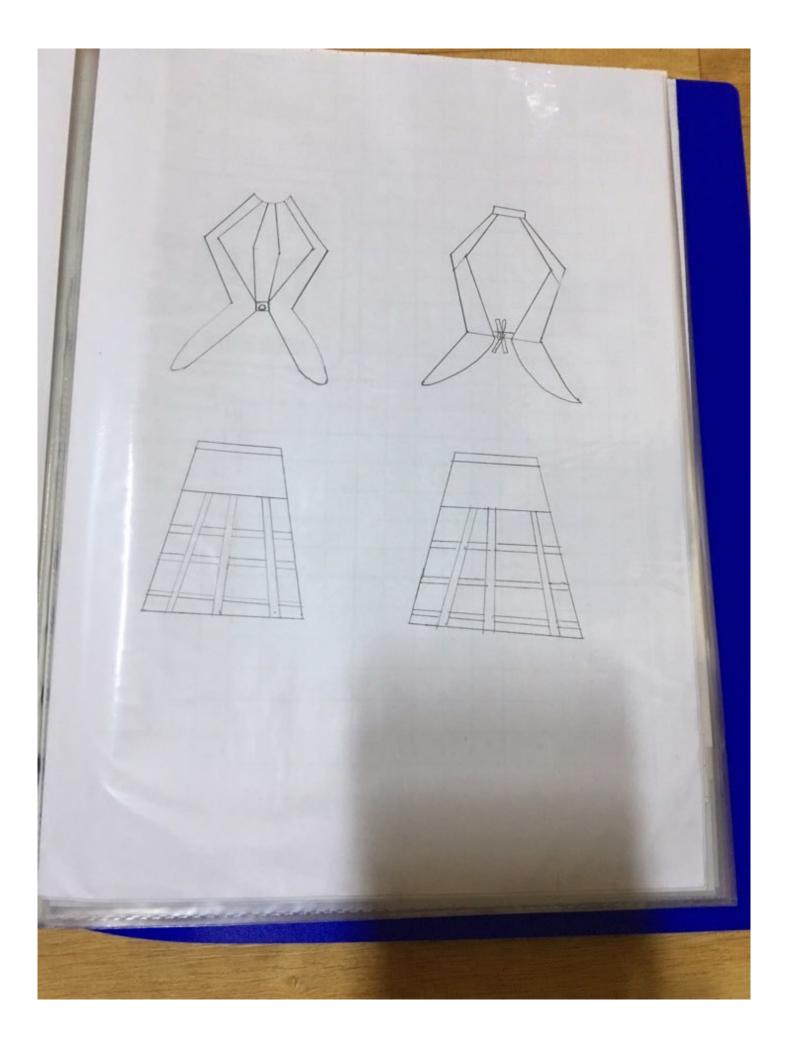

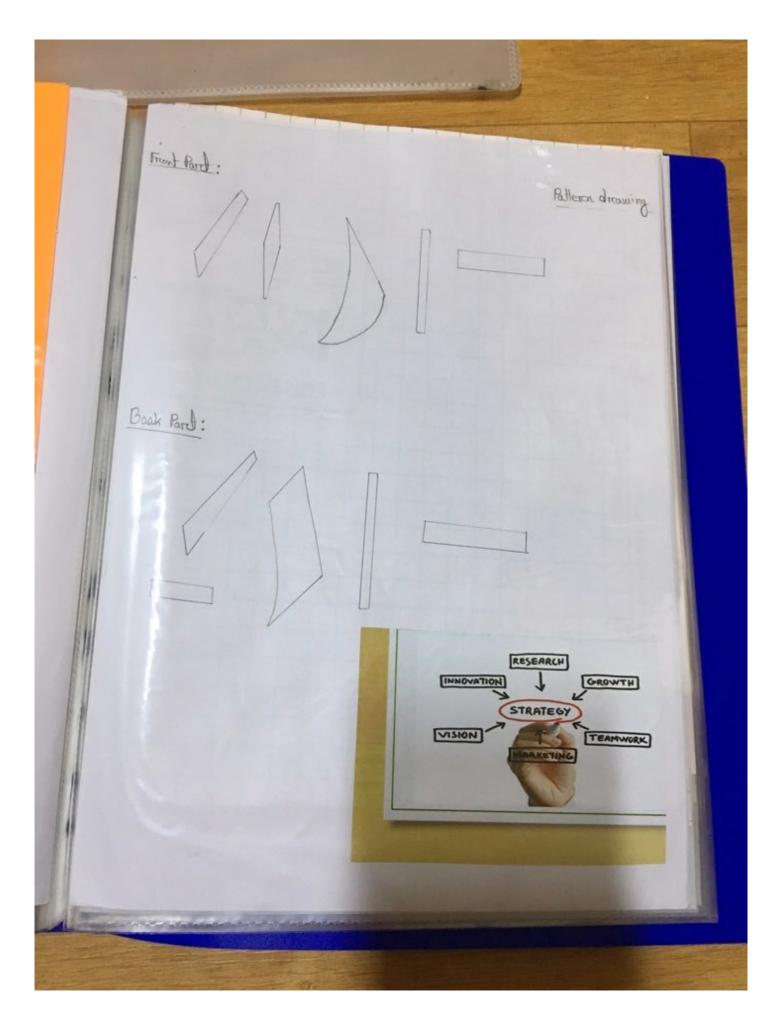

Profile by Design specializes in marketing and branding for businesses in complex fields. For over 20 years, construction, industrial, technology, and commerce companies have relied upon us to help th

Flat drawing:

